GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Foreign Criminals.

NEW YORK, July 26.—I. Bach and family, mother and four sons, were arrested on their arrival from Germany a month ago at the instance of the German consul general for extensive forgeries in their native country. The United States commissioner to-day discharged the mother and eldest son and held for extradition Hugo and Albert Bach.

Drowned.

DENVER, July 26.—A man named Scroggs and Joe Watson, a ten year old boy, were drowned near the city by the capsizing of a boat.

Steamer Burned.

LOUISVILLE, July 26.—The new steamer H. T. Dexter burned down to the hull to-day; loss $30,000; insured. Cause, incendiary.

Extraordinary Murder at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, July 26.—An unusual homicide occurred in the northwest part of the city this afternoon on an uninhabited street upon which workhouse prisoners have been at work in a quarry. Paul Smith (colored) from Jackson, Tenn., who had just been discharged from the workhouse, went to this quarry to get a drink from a spring. While he was there John King, an Irish laborer who lives near, came up and began to abuse him. The quarrel was followed by stone throwing and finally they came together when Smith threw King and seizing his throat actually choked him to death. Smith gave himself up to the first officer he met.

Another Story.

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—The owner of the E. A. Merritt, one of the vessels fired upon by the Spanish cruiser, says that the statement about the location of the vessel when fired on is untrue. The Ethel A. Merritt arrived here yesterday. Capt. Rand said this morning: "That's a lie, and every one of my crew will swear that we were at least six miles from the coast and on making the second observation I am positive were seven miles off." Mr. Merritt will write to the secretary of state next week stating that every member of the crew of the Merritt will make affidavit that he was more than six miles from the coast at the time she was fired on.

A Personal Grievance.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Joseph Pedrabita, an American citizen of Cuban birth, who arrived by the steamer City of Washington from Havana, has just begun a suit for damages against the Spanish government for alleged damages resulting from arrest, false imprisonment, and other outrages committed upon him by the government authorities of Cuba. Pedrabita thinks that Capt. Curtis and Mr. McKercher did not sustain the honor of the American flag in permitting arrests to be made on board the steamer. Pedrabita complains that he suffered much during his imprisonment, as he could neither eat or sleep and was compelled to pay exorbitant prices for the necessaries of life during his imprisonment. For all this Pedrabita claims damage of $[illegible]0,000, as he was about starting in an extensive enterprise. He claims his arrest interfered to such an extent with his business as to damage him in the sum named.

The Jersey City Tunnel.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The divers who descended the shaft for the purpose of closing the doors of the air lock at the Hudson river tunnel had succeeded at 3:15 this afternoon in closing the doors and planking the broken bull's eye, so that very little water escaped from the tunnel into the shaft. Pumping was then resumed and by 9 this evening the doors of the air lock were visible. The work of cribbing is also far advanced, two pile drivers being in position driving piles. It is expected that by noon to-morrow piling will be completed, as work will be continued all night, an extra gang of men working on the cribbing.

JERSEY CITY, July 26.—Work is progressing very slowly upon the crib work at the tunnel to-day. Pile-drivers were in operation all Saturday night, but at an early hour this morning one of the engines became leaky in the flue and was disabled. The shaft was entirely cleaned of water at 1 o'clock this morning, and two stationary engines at its bottom were set to work pumping water which had leaked through the deadeye in the head of the air lock.

A Well Feathered Nest.

NEW YORK, July 26.—It is reported at Newport that James Flood has purchased Malbore, the home of Mrs. Bedlow, and that it will be occupied by Grant, Jr., after his marriage with the millionaire's daughter. More than $100,000 is said to have been paid.

Democratic National Committee Organization.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The democratic national committee has appointed on the campaign finance committee from California, L. W. Paterson; from Colorado, W. S. H. Level and Gen. B. B. Hughes.

Republican Mass Meeting at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The republicans opened their campaign in this city by a mass meeting last night in Market square, where a large stand was erected and lighted by numerous electric lights. The whole space was densely packed with people, and the most enthusiasm prevailed. A significant feature of the street parade was the Union Veteran Club, over 1000 of whose 1200 members turned out. The speakers of the evening were Hons. N. P. Banks, O. T. Filley, Clark E. Carr, Gov. Cullom, Senator Logan and James McCartney. The meeting did not adjourn until after 11 o'clock.

Disgraceful Row in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, July 24.—A dispatch from Vermillionville says that a mass meeting here to-day was called relative to congressional district matters. A motion to elect delegates being under discussion, R. S. Perry of Iberia was requested to speak. He argued in favor of the regularity of the late convention. During his remarks he was frequently interrupted by Hon. J. H. Acklin, who finally characterized some remarks of the speaker as unqualifiedly false. Perry replied in still severer terms, when Acklin rushed forward and attempted to strike him. A regular stampede ensued. A motion to adjourn being carried, Acklin rallied his followers and they proceeded to elect delegates to the district nominating convention. Acklin says that the action of delegates from the third congressional district to the late convention in nominating Ballou for congress was irregular.

The Rights of Express Companies.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 26.—The Louisville & New Albany railroad company having annoyed the Adams express company because the latter had obtained an injunction restraining them from ejecting the Adams express company from their line, the express company had the officers of the railroad company arrested for contempt. To-day Judge Gresham dismissed the defendants with costs, but laid down some law interesting to transportation companies and interests. He holds that a railroad company has no right to charge an express company for carrying packed parcels the aggregate sum it might charge for parcels if sent separately, but may charge a reasonable rate for the carriage of a safe or chest containing parcels as on a single package only. It cannot examine the contents of such parcel unless it has reason to believe the contents dangerous to life or property.

Dr. Tanner's Condition.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Dr. Tanner rested on a cot for the greater part of the day. He took his usual morning and evening ride, returning from the latter very much exhausted. He laid on his cot and in a few moments was fast asleep. He awoke and asked for water, but before it could be handed him he had again fallen asleep. At 9:45 he retired after drinking some water which his stomach was unable to retain. An examination showed his pulse to be 74, temperature 98 2-5, respiration 16. Since the commencement of the fast he has lost 25½ pounds.

The Ute Council.

LOS PINOS, July 21, VIA LAKE CITY, July 25.—The third regular council was held yesterday. The kind and quality of land to be allowed to each Indian was the principal discussion. The Indians desire to see the land before accepting the treaty. Douglass' imprisonment is also discussed. The Utes want him tried at once or released. They assert his innocence in most emphatic terms. The commission is doing everything to expedite matters and finish its work before cold weather.

Savage Bros., who have been piping near the banks of Rogue river during the last season, have suspended operations for the present in order to commence harvesting. They have cleaned up about a third of the ground washed off and received good wages for their work.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Description and History of the San Pedro Mine.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—A correspondent of the Tribune learned the following facts from Colonel Grafton of this city in regard to the San Pedro and Canyon del Agua Mining Company, of which Grant has to-day been elected president. It is a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Connecticut with the following officers: President, Geo. William Ballou; vice president, R. M. Pulsifer; secretary and treasurer, D. H. Darling; superintendent, M. G. Gillett. It has a capital of $10,000,000 in 400,000 shares. Its property is situated about 35 miles southwest of Santa Fe in New Mexico and about 12 miles south of the Atchison and Topeka railway, which is now completed and in operation to and beyond that point. The company's grants contain 42,000 acres of land. This property, said Colonel Grafton, was brought to my attention during the late war. In last October I learned that it was in the market and I secured an option of it. I sent an engineer to examine and report upon it and after receiving the reports I presented the matter to Mr. Ballou of Boston, who at once determined to organize a company for the purchase of the property, provided the reports made by my engineer were confirmed by his. We were fortunate in securing the services of Col. Gillett to examine the property, and after receiving his report we visited it and the purchase by Mr. Ballou was consummated and the company organized. Copper, silver and gold were found in this city. The mines were worked extensively in 1839 and 1842 by Mexicans, who carried their water for washing the gravel on the backs of donkeys. Hydraulic engineers have been employed by the company to bring water from the Sandia mountains to the placer mines. The work will be completed about the 1st of October. A large smelting establishment for the reduction of the silver will be erected and in operation by that time.

Land Decision.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The secretary of the interior has reversed the decision of the commissioner of the general land office and directs that a patent be issued to Ketcham in the case of Ketcham against the state of California. The case involves a certain tract in Los Angeles district which the state of California has selected for school indemnity purposes. This is one of the well known Selby cases.

Senator Bruce to take the Stump.

Senator Bruce of Mississippi, is to take an active part in the Maine campaign and will leave for Augusta in a few days. He will also make several speeches in Ohio and Indiana.

The Rival Canal Companies.

It is reported that De Lesseps greatly overestimates the support he expected to receive in Europe for his Panama canal scheme. Captain Phelps, who has just returned from Europe in furtherance of the Nicaragua route, is authority for this statement, and also says that when the time comes all the money needed can be raised to construct the Nicaragua canal.

The Virginia Democracy.

The fight of the democratic factions in Virginia is growing more bitter each succeeding day. Leaders are making desperate efforts to effect compromises and to that end a convention has been called to meet at Woodstock next Saturday.

MARSHALS' CHARGES.

Explanation of the Law Relating to Fees and Expenses of Public Officers.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, July 24.—First Comptroller Lawrence has issued the following circular to U. S. marshals:

By the appropriation act of June 30, 1879, the expense of transporting convicts from one judicial district to another and the expenses of salaried officers of the government attending courts as witness on behalf of the United States were classed among the miscellaneous expenses of courts. This caused a change in the established mode of accounting for said expense. In the appropriation act of June 16, 1880, providing for the expenses of courts during the current fiscal year, items of this class are not specified. This seems to indicate on the part of congress an intention to leave the classification of items to the officers of the executive departments, and accounting officers have concluded to resume the former method of adjustment. After June 30, 1880, marshals will charge on their accounts for fees of witnesses the expense of government salaried officers who attend courts as witnesses on behalf of the United States, and will render with accounts and vouchers for payment of said stated items sworn to as the law requires. The fees and expenses incurred after said date in transportation of all prisoners are to be charged in accounts for fees and expenses of marshals. Marshals who are required to remove convicts from their own districts to prisons in other districts should obtain the approval of the attorney general to their bills of expenses before including them in their accounts. This office has been informed that in some instances guards had been used where there was no necessity for them and that in other instances guard hire has been charged when guards were not in fact employed. No construction of the law will justify such charges. Guard hire is not a gratuity but is only chargeable when guards are necessary and when they are actually employed.

ON THE TURF.

SPLENDID TROTTING BY MAUD S. AT CHICAGO.

Close on to St. Julien's Mile Record—The Best Half Mile—Other Races.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO, July 24.—The Jockey Club races were attended by 8000 people to-day. The track was in the best possible shape and all conditions were favorable to fast time. The sport was exciting throughout.

The first race was the Chapin & Gore stake, 2:30 class, $100, $500 additional. It was hotly contested and the favorite, Hambletonian Bashaw, was beaten as follows:

Parana	1	2	[illegible]		1
[illegible]	3	3	1	1	4
Hambletonian Bashaw	4	1	4	2	2
Palma	4	3	[illegible]	4	4

Time—[illegible] ½.

The next race was for Willoughby, Hill & Co.'s stake, 2:25 class, $200 entrance, $1000 added. Monroe Chief was barred in the pools and in the three heats was put to his speed only by William H. Following was the score:

Monroe Chief	1	1	1
William H	2	3	2
Dream	3	2	3

Time—2:18¾, 2:21¼, 2:19¼.

The only race of the day worthy of description was between Maud S. and Trinket, and the wonderful time made in the heat by the six-year old mare from Cincinnati opened the eyes of the sightseers who claim to know something of horse flesh, and taught them that records are lowered faster now-a-days than of yore. It is understood that there is already talk of a meeting for Maud S. and St. Julien, and betting would probably be pretty near even on such an event. It was evident to-day that Maud was not driven for all there was in her. During the last heat her driver slowed up, looked over his shoulder on the home stretch, probably to save Trinket from being distanced. She might otherwise have finished in 2:12½. From the word go, on the third heat, she trotted very level and squarely, reaching the quarter in a 2:12 gait, the second quarter in a 2:08 gait and the third quarter in a 2:1[illegible] gait. Her performance raised the excitement to fever heat, and as she walked proudly back to her stable at the conclusion of the race the ground resounded with cheers in her honor. The history of the heat was as follows: At the beginning Maud is sold about 200 to 180 in the pools. Owing to bad behaviour of Trinket they got off with some difficulty, and when they did go Maud sped away so fast that she beat Trinket to the turn. Here she left her feet for an instant, Trinket following suit, but they both quickly regained their stride and Maud outfooted the other clear down to the wire. In the second heat Trinket moved steadier, but although they went off at even strides the pace was so killing that at the first quarter Trinket made a break, and before she could settle down the chestnut mare had obtained a long lead, going to the half mile in 1:07½. Around the turn and back to the wire she slowed up considerably, while Trinket made a dash for the lead, but was so far behind that when she broke she barely recovered in time to save her distance. Nobody would now bet against the self evident fact that Maud would win, and there was now only anxiety to see her do her best. Bets were freely offered that she would make a 2:17 record. The pair went away very fast, but Maud soon evinced her superior speed. She fairly skimmed the ground, while the grand stand held their breaths or shouted encouragingly to her and her driver, according to the degree of their excitement. She made the mile at an astonishing gait and without a break in 2:13¼. All the remaining points can be gleaned from this summary:

	1st qr	2d qr	3d q	Mile
First heat	36	1:08½	1:41¼	2:19
Second heat	33¼	1:07½	1:44	2:21¼
Third heat	33	1:05	1:37¼	2:13¼

The half in 1:05 is the fastest ever made in a race. Maud S. now comes into the free-for-all races.

The New Trotting Star.

CINCINNATI, July 26.—Capt. Stone, manager of Maud S., says that he is confident that she could have beaten St. Julien's time if she had not been slowed up in Chicago to save Trinket's distance. He is confident that she can trot in 2:10, and says that by a record of 2:13¼, on her second appearance in public, she holds the place of the best trotter in the world. She trots in Cleveland Wednesday.

The Saratoga Races.

SARATOGA, July 26.—Half mile, won by Lotta C., Charlotte second; time 50½. Bye-and-Bye won the 1½ mile, Gold Bug second; time 2:40½.

Mile dash—Charlie Gorham won, Minos second; time 1:4[illegible].

CHINESE AFFAIRS.

Great Interest Expressed Relative to the American Commission—Spain and Brazil also Arranging for Treaty Reforms—Other Matters.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

HONGKONG, June 29, VIA SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Former apathy respecting the arrival of the American commissioners has changed to deep interest. Eager inquiries are made at Peking as to the object, scope and seriousness of their errand and as to the powers entrusted to them. Throughout China anxious feeling is expressed in consequence of their visit being coincident with those of Spanish and Brazilian envoys. A peculiar suspicion of joint operation prevails and distrust of amicable intentions is said to be freely declared in high quarters.

Admiral Silveira Da Motta, ambassador from Brazil, is now on the way to Peking to negotiate a treaty, accompanied by a full diplomatic staff, including envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, S. Ruy Callado.

Col. Gordon has arrived at Hongkong and proceeds north immediately.

Efforts to suppress opium smoking in and around Nanking are vigorously continued by the viceroy of the province.

The Spanish minister with legation attaches is en route for Peking in a ship of war, unlike the Brazilian envoy, who travels in a public steamer, having dispatched his national vessel to Japan.

The local authorities of Nanking have decreed the expulsion of American kerosene on the alleged ground that it is dangerous. The true reason is believed to be that it supplants native oil, in the growth of which many mandarins are interested largely.

Russian naval reinforcements are expected in these waters.

Prolonged conferences have been held at Teenkin between Wade, British minister, and Li Hung Chang, viceroy of the Chihli provinces, on the subject of a possible war with Russia. Wade is reported strongly urging peace, Li generally agreeing in theory, though strangely discomposed by frequent dispatches from Peking. The question of a Russian war is still undecided; opinions totally at variance are expressed with equal force and conviction in circles where opportunities of knowledge are supposed to be best. A small majority is apparently confident of a peaceful issue.

JAPAN.

Arrival at Yokohama of the American Commissioners—Etc., etc.

YOKOHAMA, July 10.—The mikado is still pursuing his central and southern tour. He returns to Tokio July 30th.

The French and Italian ships of war, the latter commanded by the duke of Genoa, are reported about to visit Corea with proposals for treaties.

The new Japanese envoys to Holland and Italy with suites sailed for their posts July 9th.

The first Brazilian ship of war seen in Japanese waters, the Vital DeOliviera, is now in Yokohama harbor.

The United States minister and commissioners to China arrived at Japan on the 8th and after a few days will proceed to China, probably in the United States ship Ashuelot or Richmond, assigned for that purpose.

J. C. Franklin writes from Lena, Umatilla county, that the rain and wind storm passing over that section on the 18th inst. was most disastrous. The loss in hay was immense. The hills on either side of the creek were a sheet of running water, sweeping fences, bridges and crops away. The creek for miles is now lined with the debris of destruction. For nearly one hour before the storm struck us, a perpetual roar of thunder was noticed. The principle loosers are T. R. Howard, G. B. Hansard, J. C. Franklin, J. Crawford and C. E. Hinton.

The merchants of Weston paid out between Monday and Friday of last week something over $1300 at Blue Mountain station, for freight alone.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

The Clemetshaw Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—The case of John H. Clemetshaw, charged with perjury in testifying before a coroner's jury in the case of the death of Chas. De Young—that De Young fired the first shot—came up in Judge Freeton's court to-day.

A Question of Humanity.

In reply to a telegram of Collector Shannon to the U. S. treasury department asking that the revenue cutter Richard Rush be sent to Socorro island to rescue the captain, his wife and a portion of the crew of the abandoned ship Matilda, supposed to have reached that island, the department declines, but has referred the matter to the secretary of the navy.

Secretary Thompson has gone to Mare island to inspect the navy yard.

Preparing to Receive Schurz.

German and republican clubs are making preparations for the reception of Secretary Schurz, who is expected to arrive to-morrow night.

The Tetlow Murder Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Sam Tetlow, proprietor of the Bella Union Theater, was to-day held to answer for killing his partner, Skeantlebury. His bail was fixed at $20,000, which has not yet been furnished.

FROM THE NORTH.

Condition of the "Thrasher" Wreck—Chinamen for the C. P. Railroad—Etc.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

PORT TOWNSEND, July 26.—Advices from Victoria, B. C., in reference to the wrecked ship Thrasher, say that the damage to the fore part of the ship had been repaired by divers, but it was found impossible to get at the hole in the bilge. A considerable portion of the cargo had been removed and the vessel was lying in an easy position, and so far as had been ascertained not a single bolt had been started. The pumping machinery was too light, however, to gain on the water, and although when the tide receded the pumps made perceptible headway, yet at the flood of the tide they lost more headway than had been previously gained. The gunboat Rocket was still alongside of the wreck. Capt. Bosworth has telegraphed to the owners to ascertain whether he should go to any further expense in the matter. There is very little doubt but she will soon have to be abandoned, her position being a critical one. The only insurance known is the captain's interest—$5000. Rear Admiral Sterling is deserving of the greatest credit for the advantageous aid afforded and which he continued to the last moment.

About 100 Chinamen arrived at Victoria by the steamer City of Chester, supposed to be intended for railroad work.

The weather between Columbia river and Cape Flattery very foggy lately.

The schooner Teaser, commanded by Capt. H. McCrae, has left this place on a seal otter hunting expedition.

The barkentine C. L. Taylor, which left here for Guaymas on Saturday, while off Port Angeles yesterday afternoon beating out, lost her flying jibboom. She returned here for repairs.

The City of Chester arrived from the Upper Sound last night and left for Nanaimo.

ARIZONA.

Railroad Work—Mining, etc., etc.

TUCSON, July 24.—The track of the S. P. R. R. is laid seventeen miles east of Benson. Grading is complete beyond Dragoon Summit. The railroad round house is complete. An average of eighty-five cars of railroad material goes to the front daily. It is estimated that track laying will go on at the rate of two miles per day after reaching Dragoon Summit.

The mill dams at Harleston broke to-day, causing temporary suspension of two quartz mills.

Treasure shipments for the week were as follows: From Tombstone, $22,800 silver bullion; from Globe and McMillen districts, $300,000; Silver King, $[illegible],287.72.

There has been considerable rain throughout southeastern Arizona during the week, with indications of much more.

Travel to Sonora is rapidly increasing, caused by large mineral discoveries in the districts of Altar and the Cienega. A large silver ledge of very rich ore has been discovered near the Canyon de Oro, 35 miles north of Tucson. The bullion out of Pima county will be doubled next month. The Hanshaw 25 stamp mill will commence work this week. The San Xavier and Santa Rita smelter will also commence operations this week.

MURDER NEAR EUGENE CITY.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EUGENE CITY, July 26.—J. E. Cartright shot and killed Fred Mendes in Mohawk valley, near Eugene, this morning. No particulars other than that of self-defense is claimed have been received.

MINING DECISION.

Settlement of Important and Long Disputed Questions.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 24.—To-day Judge Barnard made the following important decision in the case of Wm. E. Hoyt against the Quicksilver Mining Co.: It was the duty of the directors to pay all debts funded and otherwise existing at the time of issuing the preferred stock. The term "net earnings" in the proceedings creating the preferred stock means no more than such earnings of the company as are left after a wise administration of the affairs of the company. The preferred stock holders have no right to prevent the payment of the company's debts nor to exact a settlement based upon the claim that such payment of debts was made out of their moneys. When the affairs of the company judiciously prevent a dividend, then the first 7 per cent. must go to the preferred stockholders. Until such a dividend can be declared the preferred stock has no right to a yearly settlement to the exclusion of the debts or to a settlement on the basis that a dividend should have been declared every year. Moreover the course pursued by the company was acquiesced in by all the stockholders. Yearly statements were made showing these payments of debts and no one objected. The stock, both common and preferred, was bought and sold with reference to this manner of disposing of the funds and all parties concerned are bound by it. There is no other just way. If the view of the preferred stockholders is correct, to whom are the yearly preferred dividends to go to?—the owners of the stock when dividends ought to have been made or to the present holders? No injustice is done to the preferred stock holders in allowing as against them these payments of debts. They were quite as much interested in paying the debts as the common stockholders. It made the property of the company free and pledged to the payment of the seven per cent preferred dividend. The debts paid for services rendered before the formation of the present company should also be allowed. The directors paid them and the payments were acquiesced in. The money and cash assets on hand are therefore the only basis of a dividend to the preferred stockholders. The rents should be allowed. It was part of the earnings of the property of the company. The referee should have allowed the premium on the gold sent to California. It was necessary to get gold there to use in California, where the works were, and the paper paid if sent would have failed by as much to pay the company's debts. The report is vague as to what constituted the product of the mines. For it should not have been allowed as such. The depreciation in value were properly reported. The $214,000 was not part of the capital of the company. I believe this covers all the points presented. The report is not confirmed, but has been sent back to the referee for correction in accordance with these views.

This is the first fatal case from a rattlesnake bite that has yet come to our knowledge.

SPIRIT OF THE GERMAN PRESS.

Rudolph Lexow, editor of the New York Belletristisches Journal, a cool and quiet observer [illegible] and thinker [illegible] the [illegible] New York as [illegible] since the last state [illegible] when the republican ticket was [illegible] on the contrary very much has occurred [illegible] Among [illegible] Young [illegible] solved its organization [illegible] under all these existing circumstances compel [illegible] conclusions as to what the real political situation [illegible] New York. We are [illegible] in what we say, and predict that the state of New York will give at least a majority for the republican ticket of from 15,000 to 25,000 votes at the November election."

To this the Illinois Staats Zeitung adds the following: "We accept this opinion of the old and experienced Rudolph Lexow, whose views are not influenced either one way or the other by party passion and excitement, as being of more importance and significance than the loud and noisy assertions of hundreds of the shrewdest partisans of either side. There are no dissensions of any kind whatever noticeable in the republican ranks, and while complete harmony predominates amongst them, the Tammanyites and Anti-Tammanyites are, notwithstanding that ostentatious forgiving and forgetting scene played in the Cincinnati convention, at swords points. Prominent independent German republicans of the City of New York view the situation of the republican cause very hopefully. They find the great strength of the republican candidate to consist in his excellent and trustworthy position on all financial and political economic questions. Garfield is a master on this particular field of our public policy. On this sound position of Mr. Garfield these prominent German business men of New York base their confidence and belief of his election in November. All the noise and braggadocio of New York democrats to the contrary notwithstanding, the united German vote of that state will be cast for Garfield and decide the election. The untenable position which the democratic party has occupied for years on these questions, together with the well known inexperience of Hancock relative thereto, are sufficient cause for them to predict this favorable result for the republican party."

The St. Louis Westliche Post says: "This paper has, during the past few months, on different occasions called attention to the fact how and why the City of St. Louis remained behind the other great cities of the union, and has assigned its reasons therefor. The fault lies not with the census supervisor, nor with the enumerators. It must be attributed to the entirely wrong policy pursued by our business men. We have more than once called attention to the fact that nothing can be more detrimental and more injurious to the social, political and business interests of St. Louis than to retard the free development of the south. All such retarding influences will produce gradual impoverishment, and as St. Louis is chiefly dependent upon its commercial relations with the south, it naturally follows that we cannot expect a prosperous business from that section of our country as long as nothing is to be had there. And the reason why we cannot expect any business from the south to a great extent is, because the wrong and ill-advised policy of the democratic party of the south does not protect the laborer in his rights, because, instead of depending on itself, that same policy depends on the assistance of the state, because it deters immigration, because it advances taxation through the misdeeds of its corrupt rings and because it leaves property without any protection. And this wrong democratic policy the business men of St. Louis endorse and support by sending democrats to congress, thus increasing the power of the democratic party to decide the destinies of the south by its wrong and injurious policy and action. The same democratic policy, with its discouraging effects, intimidates and frightens away immigration to our city. St. Louis is becoming more democratic every year, and thus it does not draw new vitality from without, but discharges and drives off gradually that which it possesses from within. In this the census gives us a very good lesson. It proves conclusively how well founded and absolutely correct our admonitions and advice were at the time. The census demonstrates that in the north, where the democracy does not predominate, the increase in wealth and population is bordering on the fabulous, while in the south everything remained stationary. How has Boston grown, how has Chicago overlapped us, what a prosperous rise and development has taken place in Kansas, Nebraska and Minnesota!"

The Chicago Freie Presse says: "The democratic papers can not deny that Hancock is devoid of those qualifications which are necessary to be a good citizen, to say nothing about those demanded of a President of the United States. If we consider that during the last twenty years the General has had ample time in his well paid position to study and inform himself relative to public affairs, then we must come to the conclusion that his ignorance is in consequence of a singular lassitude. If we compare Garfield with Hancock, and take into consideration how the former possessed himself, under the most adverse circumstances, as a boat boy, of knowledge which can only be acquired by hard application to study, then we must confess that, to give the preference to a man like Hancock, the lazy military aristocrat, over a self made man like Garfield, seems almost to be an insult to the American people!"

HANCOCK'S POLITICS.

[Cleveland Leader.]

We have carefully searched the democratic papers of the country for a summary of the political principles of Gen. Hancock, and have found them to be set forth about as follows:

On the subject of the currency, he is a magnificent-looking fellow.

On the subject of the tariff he is a splendid soldier.

On the subject of free trade, he wears a brilliant uniform.

On the subject of river and harbor improvements he makes a grand appearance on horseback.

On State rights, he appears well in his epaulets and brass buttons.

On civil service reform, he has a fine military bearing.

On the so called reform in the administration of the government, he is a modern Murat.

On the Indian question, he is the finest looking Indian fighter the country ever produced, notwithstanding that for every Indian he killed it cost the government $1,500,000.

On the southern question, he behaved like a gallant soldier and made himself popular with every Ku Klux, White Liner, bulldozer and ballot box stuffer.

On the subject of our foreign relations he wears a splendid mustache.

On the school question, he is a handsome looking man.

On all other questions of public policy he has a martial bearing.

In one respects he resembles Jeff Davis, the only difference being that he wears a corset while Jeff wore a petticoat.

SHOOTING AFFRAY

In Brownsville with Probably Fatal Termination.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

BROWNSVILLE, July 25, 1880.

An ugly shooting scrape occurred in South Brownsville last (Saturday) night. It seems an old grudge existed between one Goodman, who is doctor, and a painter named Dick Warren. Last evening they met at the residence of Mr. [illegible]. High words ensued and shots were exchanged. The exact facts cannot now be ascertained. Goodman struck Warren a heavy blow over the right eye, and when Warren turned to run Goodman fired. The shot, from a large revolver, took effect in Warren's back between the left shoulder blade and the spine, inflicting probably a mortal wound. Warren made his way to a private residence, crawling to the door, where he was found an hour after the shooting. Drs. Crawford and Cole were summoned and made an examination of the wound and administered to the wounded man. But slight hopes are entertained of Warren's recovery. Goodman gave himself up and is now under arrest. A preliminary examination will be held to-morrow. It is said that the immediate cause of the altercation was concerning a woman, as usual backed up by a plentiful supply of bad whisky.

THE WASHINGTON DELEGATESHIP.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY, July 24, 1880.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Among the gentlemen who have been named as probable candidates before the republican convention of Washington territory for the nomination of delegate to congress, Mr. John B. Allen is without question distinguished by the possession in superior degree of the qualifications necessary to render the most effective service to that constituency. Not one in a hundred of the men who are brought or push themselves forward for this position is at all capable of fulfilling acceptably to the people ought to be represented, the duties of a territorial delegate. These duties involve much labor intelligently directed and no inconsiderable responsibility. No man will answer for the place unless he be of industrious business habits, of an active mind and superior understanding, of such training and knowledge of public affairs that he may readily master the rules and practice of the executive departments, of such address, courtesy and personal influence over men that he will not only avoid repelling the federal officials and others who would otherwise be friendly to the interests of his constituents, but gain allies and proselytes from among all classes, and moreover, of such unassailable integrity as to sustain everywhere in Washington lobby and the world at large the reputation that it would not do for any man to approach him with a corrupt proposal. The people of all the territories should, in the selection of their delegates, keep in view the fact that their representatives at Washington labor under the great disadvantage of a lack of voting power in the house of representatives, and that this subjects them to the indifference of the department officials from cabinet officer down, and also limits to almost nothing their influence at the capitol. Hence if there are any interests of the territory to be forwarded at Washington, as there always are, it is of great importance that the delegate be so much better and abler a man than the average congressman that from sheer force of personal weight he may overcome, as far as possible, the disadvantage referred to.

But one of the names mentioned to go before the convention which will meet at Vancouver is that of a man whose reputation answers to the requirements above noted. Mr. Allen has been for more than ten years a resident of the territory, where he settled without money or acquaintances. Five years devotion to the practice of his profession there forced such recognition of his superior merit as a lawyer as to secure for him the position of United States district attorney, which office he now holds. No one appears to question that in the intervening years he exercised that office so faithfully to the government and people and so creditably to himself as to fully merit the honor which his numerous friends now seek to have bestowed on him. He has probably a larger acquaintance with the people than any other man in the territory, and is well informed as to the interests and wants of the several localities. He has never been a politician in the common sense of the term, though always a republican, and will not probably meet with any opposition except from the ring politicians, all of whom admit that he is strong with the people.

The recent dry warm weather has ripened the grain crop very rapidly, and harvesting throughout the Willamette valley will soon begin in good earnest. With less than the usual number of exceptions, reports from all points agree in the prediction of a heavy yield, the aggregate exceeding that of 1879 by at least 25 per cent.

DISGUISES AND EXPEDIENTS.

No one can honestly claim that General Hancock in asserting the majesty of national authority and helping to maintain it with his sword rightly represented the democratic party. It may be granted that he recognized the national authority as supreme, else he would not have fought to maintain it. But it would be ludicrous falsification of fact and history to assert or concede that this was the position of the party which has now put him in nomination. That entire section of the party from which he will receive his chief support was in open and armed rebellion against national authority; and the other and weaker section of the party was throwing every possible obstacle in the way of enforcing this same national authority against their political brethren who had repudiated it. It so happens that the northern democracy made their history on this subject not less distinctively and clearly than the southern democracy made theirs; for while the southern democrats had arms in their hands, striking directly at national authority and the national life, northern democrats were voting for such men as Vallandigham, and adopting resolutions like the following:

> Resolved, That this convention does explicitly declare, as the sense of the American people, that, after four years of failure to restore the union by the experiment of war, during which, under the pretense of a military necessity of a war power higher than the constitution, the constitution itself has been disregarded in every part, and public liberty and private right alike trodden down, and the material prosperity of the country essentially impaired, justice, humanity and the public welfare demand that immediate efforts be made for a cessation of hostilities.

This resolution, taken verbatim from the national democratic platform adopted at Chicago in 1864, shows precisely how that party stood in relation to the war for enforcement of the national authority. Republication of it now is the only thing necessary to expose the incongruity of the party's record with the candidacy of one whose only claim to distinction is founded upon his career as a soldier in the war which the party opposed. Not only this, but it shows most conclusively that his nomination is only a dishonest fetch resorted to for the purpose of gaining power. It is simply a cover or mask for a most odious and unpatriotic record—a record acknowledged to be both odious and unpatriotic by this very act. There was, however, a dishonest attempt in 1864 as now. An effort was made to take advantage of supposed popular discontent with President Lincoln's government, under the belief that the people were tired of the war and would consent to the adoption of any measures however dishonorable for its suspension. But the party still sought then as now to gain some advantage from the popularity of the war with a part of the people by nominating as their candidate for president a prominent general of the army (McClellan); at the same time they took the precaution to select the man who had proved the most conspicuous "failure" through the history of the war. In this they showed some evidence of consistency, but the result was an overwhelming overthrow. The present action of the party is far more transparent for inconsistency and dishonesty than on that occasion, and the people are not slow to see it. For a party which has denied persistently the power of the nation to maintain its authority against the states to take for its candidate a man who never would have been heard of but for his services in the war against the fundamental dogma of confederate democracy, is a most ridiculous sham. It is merely a cover under which it hopes to steal into power.

Let us look a little farther at the past. In 1868 we find, as in 1864 and as now in 1880, this same maneuver. This time they do not claim that the war was a "failure," but they demand a general amnesty for all past political offenses with the immediate restoration to the rebel states of all the rights which they had forfeited by rebellion. In their platform they declare in favor of paying a large proportion of the public debt in greenbacks; maintain that the determination of the rights and qualifications of suffrage "belonged to the several states," and denounce the "reconstruction acts (so-called) of congress as usurpations and unconstitutional, revolutionary and void." On this platform a ticket was nominated, composed of a prominent peace democrat (Seymour) and an ex-union soldier (Blair), who had declared his readiness to assist in repealing and nullifying the reconstruction legislation of congress. This was considered the very climax of adroit political management, and peace democrats in the north and rebel democrats in the south vied with each other in enthusiastic prediction of the complete overthrow of their political opponents. Though aided by Boss Tweed and Samuel J. Tilden in the successful scheme for stuffing ballot-boxes in New York city, they were still doomed to disappointment and defeat throughout the nation.

In 1872 a new device was resorted to, but of a color with the rest for dishonest expedients. Not only did they pledge themselves to the acceptance of the very amendments of the constitution which, two years before, they had declared "usurpations, unconstitutional, revolutionary and void" but they accepted as their candidate for the presidency a life-long abolitionist and advocate of these amendments. This was a surrender of every leading principle for which they had contended at every previous presidential election, but the result was as before—defeat.

This brings us down to 1876;—and here again the party made a pretended "new departure." The "passive policy" had been adopted in many of the southern states, until by divisions in the republican ranks, or by active bull-dozing, the democracy had gained control of the state and local governments. It was now thought to be a time when the party might dare, at least partially, to throw off the disguise which it had successfully worn in previous years, and at least partially assume its old position. This it did by the nomination of two old Bourbon democrats (Tilden and Hendricks) for president and vice-president, on a platform ostensibly pledged to "reforms" which were themselves frauds. The negative policy of opposition to republican measures was adopted, but they did not dare to denounce the "reconstruction acts" as "null and void," as they did in 1868, though they did enunciate the wonderful principle of opposition to "the resumption clause of the act of 1875"—since carried into successful execution—"as a hindrance to resumption." Defeated at every presidential election since 1856, though trying some new scheme on each occasion to capture the electoral vote, the democracy have resorted in 1880 to still another device. After shouting "fraud" for four years they have repudiated the victim of that alleged fraud and nominated on a platform which is silent on such important questions as the tariff and finances a ticket composed of a soldier identified with the war declared to be a "failure" in 1864 and a national banker. It is an attempt to combine anew "the purse and the sword;" an attempted union of the principles which saved the government from overthrow by rebellion, with the measure (the Lecompton constitution) which brought the war upon the country. The ticket is adroitly constructed, but the same could be said of McClellan and Pendleton in 1864; of Seymour and Blair in 1868; of Greeley and Brown in 1872, and Tilden and Hendricks in 1876—all of which failed ingloriously. In some respects the present ticket is more incongruous and absurd than any which has preceded it. It is more so because of the position of the party towards the war and the national banks and the union of a soldier and a national banker on the ticket; and even in greater degree because this party of state sovereignty is masquerading under the flag of a national soldier as a champion of national authority. These be thin disguises—too thin to hide the purposes behind them.

"A DESPERATE CONTEST," AND WHY.

It is undoubtedly true, as dispatches report, that the election soon to take place will be desperately contested. Were a free and fair contest allowed in the southern states there could not be the slightest doubt of the result, as there would virtually be no opposition to the republican candidates. Half a dozen southern states would be carried, and the opposition, knowing the contest to be hopeless, would put forth no effort through Tammany frauds to make up in the northern states the balance necessary under their present scheme as an addition to the electoral votes of the terrorized solid south and make them a majority. But holding as a unit by violence and fraud the whole southern states, and with bold villainy denying openly and in the face of all the world the right of free elections there, they are encouraged to contend for the few electoral votes in the north necessary to make successful the enterprise they have conceived and attempted;—and this it is that brings upon the country a political campaign which will be contested with desperation. The party which formed a conspiracy to destroy the country twenty years ago is now preparing a conspiracy to seize it, and to administer it in the interest of those schemers of politics which have so often been rejected by the country. The present effort is properly called a conspiracy because it is based primarily on wicked suppression of the right of free speech and free voting in one-third of the states of the union. In addition to this, Tammany frauds are the main reliance. These are the two principal factors of the confederate-democratic campaign. In the south there is not now and never has been political freedom. No man is permitted to be active there in organizing an opposition to the oppressive tyranny that dominates a dozen states. Either the weapons of the murderer do their work at once, or the proscribed American citizen is informed that if he would avert the doom he must desist immediately from his attempts to create and consolidate a political opposition. These are facts which there is no pretense nor attempt to conceal. The country knows they are entirely true. No man is such a fool as to believe that there will be a free and fair election in any southern state. As in 1860, no republican party was allowed to organize in the south, and no republican dared to make a speech, or even let his sentiments be known in those states, so now a like terrorism forbids all freedom of political action or speech, and suppresses political liberty by a despotism as rigorous and effective as that employed to "maintain tranquillity" by the autocrat of the Russias. It is the advantage secured through this despotism of the solid south that gives the party which profits by it any standing whatever in this contest. Without it there would be scarcely a struggle.

WORK AS A NECESSITY.

It is every man's dream that at some future time he is going to have happy leisure and ease. The golden time is coming when he will no longer have to work; and then he will find rest and enjoyment, either not working at all, or only working as inclination prompts. If working, and working at his leisure, he thinks he is sure he will produce something worthy of himself, and something which the world "will not let die." But all experience and all history show there is nothing in such a dream. The busy man man never can quit. And the man of complete leisure rarely can do anything which will much outlast his time. The best and most permanent achievements have always been produced under pressure of necessity. A writer on Shakespeare well says that it was the necessity of having something to present to the English theater that forced this unequaled genius to suspend his natural disposition to careless hilarity and at odd intervals to dash off those marvellous productions which we call Shakespeare's plays. Johnson wrote Rasselas in the evenings of one week to get money to pay the expenses of his mother's funeral. It was to pay a mighty debt that Walter Scott toiled until the world had a new light in his writings, and until the light of his genius went out in eclipse. Of a great English advocate, Erskine, it is related that once having been employed as junior counsel upon a case—it was his first case at the bar—he heard his senior make a motion which was equivalent to dismissal of the case, when springing to his feet he electrified all within the round of his voice and the case was won. He had never before given evidence of such power, and when asked what prompted him to undertake a thing so without parallel he answered: "I thought of my children as plucking me by the robe and saying, 'Now father, is the time to get us bread'." The rule is not confined to intellectual work. It applies everywhere. A steam engine would never start if there was no pressure on the boiler; the man who plows a field or opens a mine, who at home has dear ones who depend upon his labors, does better work than the man who only works because he fancies to, or because a selfish dream of making money for the money's sake alone, prompts him to toil. A man's affections, his hopes, his ambition, must all be enlisted and there must be a necessity behind all which will keep the pressure upon him all the time up to safety valve limit. So balanced and crowded a man's life is worth something, and it is better for him to go on until explosion comes than to lie still and be eaten up by rust.

There have been two or three unusual efforts made recently by the wheat manipulators in Chicago and New York to "bull" the market, by sending out exaggerated telegraphic reports of damage to the growing crops in the great wheat producing region of the northern Mississippi valley, by storms which occurred during June and the fore part of July. Reports by mail, however, show that only in a few sections are the accounts telegraphed by interested parties confirmed by the facts. In Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota the aggregate yield will be greater than last year when the crops were above average. As an offset to the heavy yield in this country, reports come to hand that the crop in Russia, which has been the principal competitor with the United States in the English markets, is considerably below average. The home grown supply in England promises quite as well, according to all accounts, as last year though very recent rains have cause some deterioration in the probable quality. With all the facts at hand, on the eve of the harvest anything like a certainty as to the future of the market cannot be arrived at; but the indications are that while prices are not likely to run up to fancy figures, they will be fairly remunerative and for some time at least will manifest a good deal of steadiness.

The Roseburg Star figures Oregon as a "doubtful state," and even works out a democratic majority of 170 for November. This is done by an estimate giving the democrats bigger majorities in all the counties they carried in June than they got on that occasion, and by allowing the republicans much smaller majorities than they had in the counties they carried;—and moreover to make assurance doubly sure, several republican counties are transferred to the democratic column, where they figure with very considerable majorities. For instance, Douglas, good for 200 republican majority, is set down 100 democratic; Linn, which cannot possibly give the democrats 150, is set down at 300; Washington, good for 300 republican, is given to the republicans by only 100, and so on. Elections can be carried in this easy way in Mississippi and South Carolina, where the bulldozers control both the vote and the count, and determine beforehand what majorities they will figure up; but this sort of thing will not work in Oregon. Put down Oregon in all the tables for Garfield by not less than 1500, and perhaps 2000.

In his findings and opinions as referee in the cases against the delinquent state officials Judge Deady several times speaks of the meagreness of officials salaries paid in this state, not, however, as affording excuse for dishonesty and extravagance on the part of the officials, but evidently for the purpose of showing that the ends of honest and efficient government would be better served by payment of adequate salaries. In this view every intelligent and fair observer must agree. Chadwick and his associates in extravagance, delinquency and plunder are not to be excused because their lawful salaries were small. The lesson is that government may be too cheap to be honest. That danger in such a case in fact always exists. We only hope we shall be able hereafter to elect honest men till we can get the laws so amended as to pay fair salaries, and so to remove the temptation.

It may now be taken for granted that in future no one will have the hardihood to maintain that the late administration of our state, which has been getting such unpleasant notoriety through various investigations, was a model of honesty and efficiency, or in fact anything else than a most unsavory example of looseness, profligacy and dishonesty. Every citizen ought to read Judge Deady's findings and opinion in the case of the state vs. Chadwick. It settles the business.

"Jayhawker," the Indianapolis correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, (Dem.) reviews the vote of Indiana for a number of years past, and then concludes as follows: "As the case stands to-day, if all the candidates were to be voted for, I give it as my prediction that the republicans would carry the state by six thousand votes."

Democracy stultifies itself by claiming that the war which it declared a failure in 1864, was a success only through the efforts of Gen. Hancock.

TUESDAY MORNING JULY 27 1880

CITY.

The Scouts to Leave To Day.—Lieut E S Farrow who will have charge of the party of scouts has received orders to leave for the front to day He has just returned from Umatilla county and states that numberless and no doubt greatly exaggerated reports are in circulation concerning bad doings of Indians The settlers of Little Camas prairie have built a fort and last Wednesday sent to Pendleton for arms They were furnished with thirty one rifles So far as Lieut Farrow was able to learn, there have been no acts of depredation by Indians and the alarm which is spreading in eastern Oregon is based on rumors which as yet lack confirmation In obedience to orders Lieutenants Farrow Benham and Robertson will leave Vancouver this morning with nine Umatilla scouts who served in Farrow's campaign last fall six Indians whom he captured and thirty regular soldiers who volunteered the latter among the best marksmen at the recent rifle contest They will go to the Umatilla agency where the men will be mounted and from there proceed to Lewiston Here they will receive all necessary equipments and supplies The direction of the campaign from Lewiston has not been definitely determined, and will be shaped by coming events

The Fight Continues.—A few days ago Knott Bros commenced to drive piles at the foot of L street in East Portland The piles were driven on the north side of the street on what is claimed by Knott Bros to be the line of their property and four inches inside of the correct line A few piles were also driven on the south side of the street on land owned by W S Ladd Between these piles there is only a space of 30 feet while the little ferry Veto requires 35 feet Yesterday morning, by order of the Knott Bros, the work of pile driving commenced On observing this the Veto steamed to the eastern shore and landed Mr Levi Knott who was superintending the work told Capt Charles H Fuller of the Veto to move his boat out from the landing as he was going to drive piles that if he persisted in remaining there he could not get the ferry out Although given fair warning Capt. Fuller chose to remain saying that he was under orders from the company Pile driving was resumed and in a short time the Veto was bottled up However about 4 P M one of the piles was sawed off and the imprisoned craft released Matters at present are very much mixed up and it is difficult to say how it will result

New Church.—Services were held for the first time Sunday morning in the neat church just finished by the Advent Christian society on the northeast corner of Eleventh and Main streets. As the society is opposed to demonstrations no dedicatory services were held, but a regular sermon preached by the newly chosen pastor Mr A Snashall, of New York Mr. Snashall is a graduate of Auburn college, and has preached ten years from Presbyterian pulpits The church building is a neat frame 32 by 48 feet, and has a seating capacity for about 175 persons. Services will be held regularly every Sunday, morning and evening and will be announced in our special church notices published Saturday It is understood that a Sunday school will be organized soon in connection with the church

Young Men's Republican Club.—Some time ago mention was made in the columns of The Oregonian to the effect that a number of young men of this city had assembled for the purpose of forming a young men's republican club and a committee of five on organization appointed They have made a partial canvass of the city and secured 214 names to their list, all young and middle aged men, and next Thursday evening will hold a meeting at Handel & Haydn Hall for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization The committee have concluded their labors and will make their report on that occasion They have met with gratifying success on every hand and they are sanguine of increasing their list of membership to 1500 before the close of the campaign.

Died from his Injuries.—J C Sanborne, the unfortunate man who was so severely burned last Friday at the Oswego iron works died quite suddenly last evening at Good Samaritan Hospital at 5 o'clock. The immediate cause of Sanborne's death is attributed to internal injuries At the time of the accident he fell a distance of 14 feet and received several bruises Although severely burned, there seemed every reason to predict his recovery He was doing very well and there were no unfavorable symptoms until a few minutes before his death Sanborne was aged about 35 years He has no family, and, so far as is known no relatives in the state.

That Wood Contract.—Mr Sorensen, the well known wood dealer called at this office yesterday and requested to have some corrections made to the item which has been published in the papers in regard to the award of the contract for furnishing wood to the public schools Mr Sorensen states that the bids were as follows Mr Riley's bid was Pole oak $5 45 per cord, split oak, $4 95 fir wood $3 95 Sorensen's bid was Pole or split oak wood, either $5 05 fir wood, $3 85 The contract also calls for the delivery of 60 cords of oak (not sawed) at the Harrison street school which he (Sorensen) agreed to furnish for $1 50 per cord

Sad Bereavement.—Miss Minnie Shaw eldest daughter of Hon and Mrs J J Shaw, of Salem died in that city on Sunday evening last after a short but painful attack of spinal meningitis occasioned by a continued strain in the management of a spirited horse while taking a horseback ride a few evenings since in company with a large party of friends She was a special favorite with a large circle of friends and acquaintances and her untimely death has awakened a profound sympathy for the bereaved family

Insane.—Joseph S Abbott an engineer by avocation who recently came from Canada, and who until recently stopped at the Norton House has become insane and yesterday was committed to the insane asylum He was a quiet and industrious man and much respected by all who knew him The cause of his insanity is unknown

Shot in the Hand.—Sunday a little son of Capt Joseph Sloan of the police force met with a painful accident The lad was examining a pistol when the weapon accidentally was discharged The ball passed through the boy's left hand The wound was carefully dressed and the lad is doing well

Still Falling.—Dispatches from up the Columbia indicate a slow but steady decline of that stream also Snake river The Willamette here is falling quite slowly—not so rapidly as might be desired—and is now only a fraction below 23 feet above the extreme low water mark

Early Closing.—As will be seen by an advertisement found in another column twenty two of the proprietors of barber shops of the city have agreed to close their places of business on and after Aug 1 at 8 P M Saturdays and holidays excepted

STABBED BY A WOMAN.

Alex. Matteson Stabbed by Mrs. Anna Lynch and will probably Die.

About half past nine o clock last night Alex Matteson a longshoreman in an intoxicated condition came to police headquarters and asked that he be allowed to swear out a warrant for the arrest of Mrs Anna Lynch wife of Harry J Lynch of the Keystone house for a murderous assault upon himself The warrant was filled out by Judge Stearns and given to Chief of Police Lappeus Matteson showed a slight wound above the navel and said that he had been stabbed by Mrs Lynch He was requested to lie down until a physician could be summoned Dr Holt C Wilson was called but before he arrived Matteson began vomiting and threw up great quantities of blood Upon examination it was found that his stomach had been cut and it is thought that he can not live more than twenty four hours if indeed he does not die before daylight

Matteson has been a very disorderly drunken boarder at the Keystone House and more than once made improper proposals to Mrs Lynch which she rejected Last night he was more than usually boisterous and offensive and had been ordered to leave her alone several times He had been in her room once or twice in the course of the evening had been ordered out but persisted in returning The last time he entered Mrs Lynch drew a knife and stabbed him

Matteson after the assault made a statement to Prosecuting Attorney Caples to the effect that he entered the room to get a handkerchief he had dropped when he was met by Mrs Lynch who said —— —— you I'll cut your guts out and proceeded to put her threat into execution

Mrs Lynch was arrested and taken to the city jail by Chief of Police Lappeus She stated to an Oregonian reporter that Matteson came into her room and she ordered him out He then clutched her violently by the left arm when she drew a dagger, having a blade about six inches long, and stabbed him in the abdomen She claims that the act was done simply in self defense

No one except Mrs Lynch and her victim witnessed the murderous assault and the latter was too intoxicated at the time to have anything like a clear remembrance of the deed.

HANDSOME TESTIMONIAL

Judge C B Bellinger Presented with an Elegant Gold Watch and Chain by Members of the Portland Bar

About 9 o'clock yesterday morning during a lull in the proceedings in the state circuit court while a large number of the members of the Portland bar were present in the court Mr H H Northup arose and asked permission to speak Judge Stott gave assent when Mr Northup approached Judge C B Bellinger and addressing him said

Judge Bellinger The members of the bar of the fourth judicial district on your retirement from the bench felt desirous of manifesting their esteem for you as a judge and a gentleman in addition to the resolutions that have been spread upon the records of this court by the presentation of some souvenir alike valuable for its use and its remembrance To this end a committee was appointed to receive their goodwill offering and to make a suitable selection and this morning brings us to the end of this pleasant duty The committee in my absence from sickness re elected me on account of my years to make the presentation the youth and modesty of the chairman causing him to yield this post of honor and thus instead of his eloquence you have my poor words. It has been said that the mind of man has devised no happier institution than that of juries for one founded in a greater knowledge of human life or human capacity But of small avail would this institution be without the aid direction and control of the learned and upright judge The hunter in pursuit of his game beslimes the path of the ermine and thus it falls an easy victim It will not go forward because it finds stain and foulness It turns on its track and meets its pursuer choosing to yield its life rather than lose its spotless purity We thus the ermine been chosen as the emblem of judicial office for it too will brook neither stain nor foulness and it lives on truth and honor Spotless and pure as was the judicial ermine when you received it so spotless and pure do you give it to your successor

We watched you well upon the bench and the watch was so satisfactory that we thought we could not do better than watch you still and we hope that this latter watch will be as satisfactory to you as the former one was to us Accept then this watch and with it the assurance of the good will of the bar We are all in the grand march of life and as the heavy column moves along may this serve in some measure to recall the appreciation of the bar of this district for your efforts while judge of this circuit.

Mr Northup then presented Judge Bellinger with a very handsome gold watch and chain valued at $200 which had been purchased by the members of the Portland bar The watch is of Elgin make and the finest manufactured Upon one of the cases is engraved "Presented to Hon C B Bellinger by Members of the Bar of the Fourth Judicial District of Oregon, July 26 1880

On receiving the elegant testimonial Judge Bellinger made a very neat and fitting response In the course of his remarks he said that whatever of merit he had was due in great part to the members of the bar by whom he was surrounded and during his term of office he was shown the greatest courtesy and much deference by his brother barristers The causes were always presented in a concise and correct manner which gave a certain pleasure to the position he was called upon to fill The memento would be treasured by him through life, not for its intrinsic value but for the kindly expressions of his brethren and associates it carried with it. Throughout the affair was very pleasant and will long be remembered by all who participated

Alexander Swift a well known miner while prospecting in the mountains on the head waters of the Skagit during the first part of last month got lost wandering through the desolate mountain gorges forests and canyons for twenty nine days subsisting during the greater part of this time upon roots and the tender twigs of trees, When found by, a party of prospectors who chanced to come across him, he was too feeble to walk and had to be carried to camp.

Messrs Jonathan, Kendall, Tidwell and Hawley left Dayton, Columbia Co on the 20th May for the Skagit mines intending to reach the diggings via the Yakima country The party were fitted out with the requisite mining tools provisions and four pack horses. All went well until they reached the Wenatchee river, which they essayed to cross on a raft When about midway across the current got the better of them Raft, horses men and all were swept rapidly down the stream, when presently a large fallen tree lying across their course and under which the raft passed like a shot swept themselves horses and provisions into the water The men barely escaping with their lives were left destitute of everything—without even a match or a mouthful of food Subsequently however they managed to fish out a sack of flour from the river as it was drifting down with the current On this they subsisted for twelve days when they reached Sauk City On their way they followed down a creek which they named Seattle creek, and which finally emptied into Sauk river a tributary of the Skagit On this creek, without tools they managed to do some prospecting, finding as they state, very fine prospects of gold in the surface gravel One of the party Mr Kendall whose health is completely broken down from exhaustion and fatigue is now in Providence hospital in this city while the remainder of the party have returned with tools and provisions to Seattle creek to further prospect the country Mr Kendall states that there is no question but that the Skagit country is rich in gold He wished your correspondent to make mention of this act as also his whereabouts that his friends east of the mountains might know as to the state of the party.

TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 27, 1880.

NASBY ON HANCOCK.

A Nasby letter, dated New Orleans, December 16, 1867, addressed to President Johnson, contains passages which will have currency through this campaign. We quote:

"I found New Orleans in a tremor of joy. The principal bizniz citizens is again about the streets clappin their hands and hollerin 'Hallelujier.' The order of the great and good Hancock hez restored confidence in the bussums uv our friends and consternation in the breasts of our enemies. Juries, thank God, are no more polluted with niggers onto 'em. They are now drawn from the old citizens, many of which served under Boregard in the late unpleasantness. Bizness, therefore, goes on without delay. As a sample of how much bizniz is facilitated, I may menshun that in one court there wuz 44 cases in which niggers wuz plaintiffs, and 45 in which niggers wuz defendants. The tryin uv all these cases okepied 3 hours and 19 minutes. The verdicts in the 44 cases being invariably for the defendants, and in the 45 other cases fur the plaintiffs. Ov the time specified, 2 hours and 23 minutes wuz consumed by the niggers in payin the costs. It is a singular thing how wrong the nigger alluz iz. That wich perticklerly binds Gen. Hancock to us iz that part uv his order wich prohibits the millitary from bein at the polls. It is eggstremely probable that the Ethiopeans uv Amerikin desent will be genirally perswaded not to vote at all. The citizens uv Texas hev a way uv perswadin the niggers when they aint constitooshunally interferd with, that will, I think, ensoor the triumph uv correct principels in that State. A native Texan, a gentleman who is now in New Orleans a purchasin cartridges fur 7 inch revolvers, to be used in reconstructin the state, gave me sich informashun az precluded the necessity uv my going personally to inspect.

I would suggest that you, to wunst, take the last orders uv Gen. Hancock and make it the subject uv a messige to congriss. Detale in full the General's talk here, and add to it ez only yoo kin. Tell congriss the General is agoin to make the law the rool of his conduck, and that he propposes to uphold the cortsand civil authorities, and will only yoos his military to these ends agin the niggers. Sling in suthin' to the effeck that American liberty (which in this country is a pekoolyer variety of the artikle) is still an inheritance of the white people, and shall allus be. Tell em that when a soldier hez unlimited power in his hand, and refuses to yoos it for the purpoos of satisfyin selfish ambishun, he presents a hefty sample uv virtoo under difficulties. It would be well at this pint to compare Hancock with Washington, makin the difference atween them merely nominal. Say there may be officers in the army besides Hancock who imitates Washington but you havn't sot eyes onto em ez yit. Assert that Hancock is the first officer in command, since the close of the late unpleasantness, wat hez given utterans to sich sentiments in his orders, and demand that congress shall vote him a gold medil.

I sejest that this be done to wunst, for reasons which are obvus. We desire Hancock to continue in well-doin, but ez that well-doin in our behalf mite lead to his nominashun for the presidency, it is well enough to kill him off in that direckshen so soon ez he is committed. Hence write. Don't let Seward diloot it, or Randall polifox it. Put in my naked ideas, clothed in yoor terse and vigrus langwidge, and you will hev done a good thing. I repeated them to the leadin officers of the "Lost Cause Club," and the idee wuz rapaciously received."

MARRIAGE.

[illegible] View of It—Not the End of Our Existence.

[Nineteenth Century.]

There is another difference in the woof of a Waverley novel from the cobweb of a modern one, which depends on Scott's larger view of human life. Marriage is by no means, in his conception of man and woman, the most important business of their existence; nor love the only reward to be proposed to their virtue or exertion. It is not in his reading of the laws of providence a necessity that virtue should, either by love or any other external blessing, be rewarded at all; and marriage is in all cases thought of as a constituent of the happiness of life, and upon analyzing with some care the motives of his principal stories, we shall often find that the love in them is merely the light by which the sterner features of character are to be irradiated, and that the marriage of the hero is as subordinate to the main bent of the story as Henry V's courtship of Catherine is to the battle of Agincourt. Nay, the fortunes of the person who is nominally the subject of the tale is often little more than a background on which grander figures are to be drawn and deeper fates foreshadowed. The judgments between the faith and chivalry of Scotland at Drumclog and Bothwell Bridge owe little of their interest, in the mind of a sensible reader, to the fact that the Captain of the Popinjay is carried a prisoner to one battle and returns a prisoner from the other; and Scott himself, while he watches the white sail that bears Queen Mary for the last time from her native land, very nearly forgets to finish his novel, or to tell us—and with small sense of any consolation to be had out of that minor circumstance—that "Roland and Catharine were united, spite of their different faiths." Neither let it be thought for an instant that the slight and sometimes scornful glance with which Scott passes over scenes which a novelist of our own day would have analyzed with the air of a philosopher and painted with the curiosity of a gossip, indicate any absence in his heart of sympathy with the great and sacred elements of personal happiness. An era like ours has with diligence and ostentation swept its heart clear of all passions once known as loyalty, patriotism, and piety, necessarily magnifies the apparent force of the one remaining sentiment which sighs through the barren chambers or clings inextricably around the chasm of ruin; nor can it but regard with awe the uncontrollable spirit which still tempts or betrays the sagacities of selfishness into error or frenzy which is believed to be love.

The grain crop in Goose Lake valley will amount to very little this year. It was planted late and seared by the north winds until it could not recover.

Business in the local market was a little more active than at the close of last week, and the volume of transactions both in financial and trade circles was fully up to the average for the month of July, which is never a very active season. The monetary supply is fair, and interest rates and discounts show no tendency to harden.

There is a continuance of the lethargy in the wheat traffic, receipts having fallen off to almost nothing. Advices from abroad are rather more encouraging to the prospect of better prices after harvest, but the yield in the United States promises to be very heavy and may be forwarded in such volume as to retard any advance which the "bad weather" in England or the partial failure of crops in Russia might have a tendency to cause.

In the wool market there is nothing new to report to-day. Receipts rather lighter than the average of last week, and prices unchanged.

Flour is in good supply, with a moderately active local trade and some demand for shipment to points outside the state.

Provisions are steady and supply not excessive.

Eggs are slightly weaker; many lots coming to hand impose a loss on account of bad quality.

Hides, pelts, etc., are in good demand at full rates.

NEW YORK FREIGHTS MARKETS.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, July 26—California freights via Cape Horn, show no material change. The market yet being very dull and ships loading slowly. The St. Paul is probably the most advanced and may get away by the close of the month. The Frank N. Thayer is also well along and her agent expects to get her off by the first prox. The Geo. F. Manson is about half full and will get away before the 10th of next month. Rates are irregular and all lines are willing to accept low figures for lots to close out with.

The steamer did not sail until yesterday. Her cargo includes 50 barrels currants, 100 cases milk, 60 cases canned goods, 65 pkgs starch, also a lot of railroad iron etc., for the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Co.

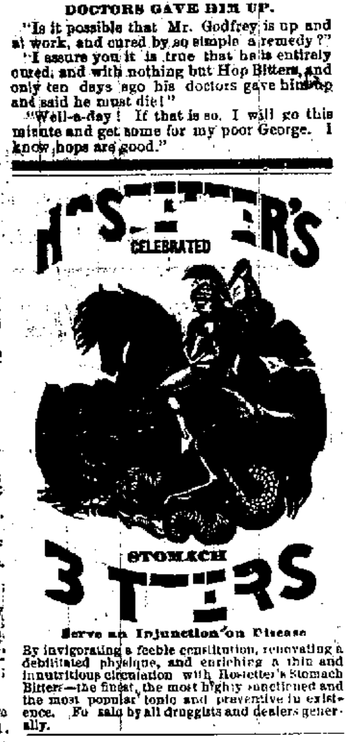
DOCTORS GAVE HIM UP.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

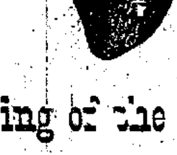
"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! If that is so, I will go this minute and get some for my poor George. I know hops are good."



Serve an Injunction on Disease

By invigorating a feeble constitution, renovating a debilitated physique, and enriching a thin and innutritious circulation with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—the finest, the most highly sanctioned and the most popular tonic and preventive in existence. For sale by all druggists and dealers generally.



King of the Blood.

Cures all Scrofulous affections and disorders resulting from Impurity of the blood. It is needless to specify all, as the sufferer can usually perceive their cause; but Salt Rheum, Pimples, Ulcers, Tumors, Goitre, Swellings, &c., are the most common, as well as many affections of the Heart, Head, Liver and Stomach.

SCROFULA.

Wonderful Cure of Blindness.

D. RANSOM, SON & Co.: For the benefit of all troubled with Scrofula or Impure Blood in their systems, I hereby recommend King of the Blood. I have been troubled with Scrofula for the past ten years, which so affected my eyes that I was completely blind for six months. I was recommended to try King of the Blood, which has proved a great blessing to me, as it has completely cured me, and I cheerfully recommend it to all troubled as I have been. Yours truly,

MRS. S. WEATHERLOW, Candida, N. Y.

THE GENUINE DR. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. MCLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. MCLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for it.

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Office Hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5. Call or address
